The National Resident Matching Program (NRMP) publishes an annual "Charting Outcomes in the Match" handbook with statistics on who matches. For family medicine in 2018, the mean number of contiguous ranks for matched seniors was 11.4.

There are many types of Family Medicine Programs and many ways to decide how to put together your rank list. Consider doing several rank lists based off of each of these factors and see which you like the most.

- Trust your gut. If you did not get a good feeling at a program, do not rank it.
- Don’t forget to certify your rank list. You can still edit if your preferences change, but you don’t want to forget to certify.
- If you don’t want to forget to certify, can still edit if your preferences change.
- Complete your rank list early.
- There are many types of Family Medicine programs to consider. Is location your most important factor? Decide how to put together your rank list. However, do not forget to certify it.
When should I be doing my audition rotations?
Every COM’s schedule varies, so look to see when other students at your COM generally do their audition rotations. But be wary - everyone is looking to do audition rotations during “peak season” (July-December), so apply early and be flexible! Some students feel July is too early to “really shine” as the new interns are just starting out and the program may be focused on their transition period, so keep this in mind if you are interested in applying to a program that starts in July. Applications open any time from January through April, so you have some flexibility in when to apply.

Do not talk about other interviews during your current interview day.
Do not talk about other interviews during your current interview day.

How many audition rotations should I do?
We would recommend doing at least 1-2 audition rotations; you can feel free to do 3 or more depending on how competitive the programs are. One committee member did over seven 2-week to 1-month audition rotations during her 4th year.

How do I determine which audition rotations to apply to?
Try to do audition rotations that you are interested in doing residency. If you are solely applying to residency in one area (ex. Los Angeles, California), it may be beneficial to apply to residency programs in that area instead of applying to audition rotations. Consider residents’ reviews and feedback. You may also want to apply to audition rotations in other areas to broaden your options and increase your chances of getting accepted.

Do’s
- Be yourself! The interview is as much an opportunity for you to decide if this is a program you would like to train at as it is for the program to get to know you.
- Do not try to answer questions the way you think the interviewers want you to answer - just be yourself!
- Do your homework on the program ahead of the game. Research the program and its offerings, and be prepared to discuss any aspect of it in detail.
- Review your residency application and CV.

Don’ts
- Don’t try to answer questions the way you think the interviewers want you to answer - just be yourself!
- Don’t try to answer questions the way you think the interviewers want you to answer - just be yourself!
- Don’t talk about other interviews during your current interview day.
- Don’t be too nervous! While you will understandably have some nerves, the interviews are as much an opportunity for you to decide if this is a program you would like to train at as they are a chance for the program to get to know you.
- Don’t try to answer questions the way you think the interviewers want you to answer - just be yourself!
- Don’t talk about other interviews during your current interview day.
- Don’t talk about other interviews during your current interview day.

AUDITION ROTATIONS
Make sure to feature your bestsellers or signature products or pieces. Keep it simple and to the point by listing the name, price and brief description.

Our Vision
Make sure to feature your bestsellers or signature products or pieces. Keep it simple and to the point by listing the name, price and brief description.

Our Mission
Make sure to feature your bestsellers or signature products or pieces. Keep it simple and to the point by listing the name, price and brief description.

Our Family
Make sure to feature your bestsellers or signature products or pieces. Keep it simple and to the point by listing the name, price and brief description.

How can I make sure I crush my audition?
Remember that an audition is basically a 2-week to 1-month interview! Try your best, come early, and be proactive. Be kind to everyone you meet - their impression of you may be important. Just be yourself! Be kind to everyone you meet - their impression of you may be important. Just be yourself! Be kind to everyone you meet - their impression of you may be important. Just be yourself! Be kind to everyone you meet - their impression of you may be important. Just be yourself!