

The clinical years as a third and fourth year student can be a challenging time. Many students find themselves alone on rotations, with minimal guidance. The Education Committee has included a typical timeline of third and fourth years for those students interesting in applying for family medicine residency programs:

